Story for all to hear.....

I'd like to take a moment to brag about our people and the job they performed on the second phase system of the Enviva Cottondale project.

Historically, I have been heavily involved with a project of this size. I would spend time before, during and after pulling together resources and items from different departments, making corrections to ensure we stay on schedule and keeping the customer happy.

I am really proud and happy to say Jeff Kronberger did a fantastic job managing this project and the field crew performed great installing it. Jeff's effort prepping and planning for this project by reviewing the first phase of the system installation that was performed in the fall of 2020, allowed him to make some critical corrections and avoid the same pitfalls. Jeff worked very closely with Charlie Brennan in Engineering, Gordon Chandonnet the Project Manager and Gene Betts our Shop Super. The changes made a tremendous difference when setting out to install the second system. This is a prime example of the team using our "Lessons Learned program" at WPI and ending up with a great result. I didn't even get a call from the site and when I asked how the job was going about three days in to the shutdown I was told the majority of the new equipment was all going to be installed and in its final resting place by the end of that shift. The job went well enough that WPI turned the project back to the customer a whole shift early. I can't say enough of how good this makes me feel and pretty sure the customer feels the same.

GREAT JOB JEFF AND CREW.

Best Regards,

Bob Marshall

"Thank you for the help"

Please let upper management know, Shane Echols went above and beyond helping me out when my truck broke down, going out of his way to pick me up in the morning and fix my vehicle. It's great to work with good people.

Nice job Shane!
